Camilo Godoy: Amigxs
Billboard on view:
November 27–December
24, 2017

Location: SE corner of
9th Avenue and 37th
Street, Manhattan, NY

Camilo Godoy: Amigxs, an offsite project by current resident Camilo Godoy, is a billboard of a photograph from the artist's zine titled Amigxs. This title is a gender-neutral alternative to the Spanish word for "friends." The zine is produced in conjunction with this billboard.

Located at the Southeast corner of Ninth Avenue and 37th Street in Manhattan's Garment District Amigxs captures gender and sexual ways of being with a photograph of the artist's friends and lovers. Influenced by the use of billboards by artists and activists during the Gay Liberation Movement and the AIDS Crisis, Godoy's billboard project inserts a photograph of love and lust into public space.

He is a graduate of The New School with a BFA from Parsons School of Design, 2012; and a BA from Eugene Lang College of Liberal Arts, 2013. Godoy was a 2015–2017 Movement Research Artist-in-Residence; 2014 Keyholder Resident, Lower East Side Printshop; 2014 Hemispheric New York Emerging Performers Program Fellow, The Hemispheric Institute of Performance and Politics; and 2012 Queer Art Mentorship Fellow. His work has been presented at venues such as La Mama Galleria, New York; Movement Research at the Judson Church, New York; Donaufestival, Krems; and Mousonturm, Frankfurt among others.

Ayesha Kamal Khan: Extraction, a solo exhibition in ISCP's Project Space, features both new and existing work by ISCP alumna Ayesha Kamal Khan.

The exhibition presents a series of small sculptures and drawings, accompanied by Khan's first artist's book, titled This Is Temporary. The publication is structured as a long-form poem with images of artwork throughout. The sculptures on view examine the concept of home and collective memory, evoke the precariousness of secure space, and allude to the
