The International Studio & Curatorial Program (ISCP) is pleased to present the group exhibition WAVE PHENOMENA: contemporary strategies of sonic agency, curated by the 2023 institution-in-residence, Atomic Culture.

Since 2011, ISCP has hosted an institution-in-residence annually. This kind of residency was initiated to support cultural exchange by bringing an international perspective to a local context. This year, ISCP invited Atomic Culture, a Texas-based curatorial platform, who will be taking over ISCP's second floor gallery from August 9, 2023 through January 11, 2024, and will present an exhibition and public programs.

WAVE PHENOMENA recognizes the potential of sound as a catalyst for personal, political, and environmental considerations. The exhibition engages with artists working within or around sound, investigates their practices, and creates a discourse around sonic agency. Together they will explore the listening experience and the opportunities it creates for sympathetic resonance and sonic imagination.

The exhibition will serve as a resource for guests to learn from and have the opportunity to sit with or engage with resource materials, media, and related works of art. It will include scores, video, live performances, and recorded sound. Elements will be added to the installation throughout the duration of the presentation, offering a changing environment for visitors.

Exhibition participants include Raven Chacon (Diné) and Candice Hopkins (Carcross/Tagish First Nation), Haydeé Jiménez, Suzanne Kite (Oglála Lakȝóta), Damon Locks, Los Jaichackers (Julio César Morales & Eamon Ore-Girón), Warren Realrider (Pawnee/Crow), Tahnee Udero, Harja Waheed, and Nathan Young (Delaware/Kiowa/Pawnee).

Public programs:

Tuesday, September 19, 6–8pm: Performance by Damon Locks

Wednesday, November 1, 6–8pm: Dispatch, score by Candice Hopkins and Raven Chacon

Saturday, November 11, 5:30–7pm: Performances by Suzanne Kite and Haydee Jimenez

Atomic Culture is a curatorial platform founded by Mateo and Malinda Galindo in 2015. Their mission is to collaborate with artists and institutions on site-specific projects that reimagine and challenge discourse around histories, generating opportunities for various publics to actively engage with artists and their work. Past performance projects include the ongoing series Encoding: a future setting; Cinetelechy, an expanded indigenous film series in collaboration with Blackhorse Lowe; and the online series Re__. Atomic Culture has curated exhibitions internationally and in the United States, including Ojalá, 2018, Carlsbad Museum and Art Center, New Mexico; Entre le y Quedarse, 2018, Galeria Merida, Mexico; Future Now/Futura Ahora, 2017, Loisaida Center, New York; and Turn on/Take Cover, 2016, Carlsbad Museum and Art Center, New Mexico.

They've also been guest lecturers at The New School, New York; Vera List Center, New York; San Francisco Art Institute, San Francisco; and CampoSud Gramsci, Italy.

Past ISCP institutions-in-residence include:

Transient Museum of a Thousand Conversations: LIR at ISCP, Yogyakarta, 2020

A Room for Doubt: Lugar a Dudas at ISCP, Cali, 2016

TODO TIPO DE FUEGO (All Kinds of Fire) at ISCP, San Juan, 2015
